

A new meeting place for CEO Collaboration

Introducing OfCourse.CUAnswers.com

OfCourse.CUAnswers.com is a new safe haven for CU*Answers CEOs to collaborate. This is a private site that is completely controlled by CU*Answers, so the information and ideas you share are safe and secure, and most importantly private to the site.

Unlike a ListServ, where anyone can accidentally forward an email to outside the list, the content here is only posted and shared on the site.

Features:

- Private Membership - only approved people can participate
- Share ideas publicly and your peers can comment and discuss
- Builds into a resource where you can go back and look topics up (search)
- Create ad hoc groups to discuss specific topics
- Ad hoc groups can be public or private
- Contact any other member privately, it's a roster of your peers!
- Receive alerts on new content and new responses to your ideas
- Only available on cuasterisk.com network connected workstations (MPLS)

How it Works

1. Browse to ofcourse.cuanswers.com from a MPLS connected workstation.
2. Register for the site using the simple registration form.
3. A CU*Answers team member will approve your membership.
4. Sign in with your new password.
5. Complete your online profile and set up your notification options.
6. Start sharing ideas and participating!

