CU*@HOME RELEASE APRIL 4, 2005

On Monday, April 4, 2005, we will be releasing some changes to the CU*@HOME home banking application. In addition to changes related to online credit cards (currently in beta-testing) and remote CoWWW servers for specific clients, there will also be a few important changes to the Transfers feature.

- ◆ If your credit union allows member-to-member transfers and you use Transfer Control to control where funds can be transferred, members will now see drop-down lists showing all of the account numbers and names to which they can transfer funds.

Once they select the other member's name, they can then select from a second drop-down list of that member's account suffixes (balances are not shown for the other member).

- ⇒ Without transfer control the member would still need to manually enter the account base and suffix to transfer to. Contact Client Services if you would like to discuss activating transfer control settings for your members.

- ◆ We are reinstating the confirmation screen for transfers. After entering transfer information, the member will click "Next" to proceed to the confirmation, then must click "Accept" to complete the transfer. (If they click "Cancel" instead there will also be a message stating that the transfer was not completed.)
