What is an Active Beta tool? As part of the CU*BASE Active Beta program, a tool is being put through its paces by members of the Asterisk Intelligence team. Active beta allows us to fast-track tools into a live credit union environment and employ a more hands-on, real world testing in place of our typical QC testing. But you don't need to wait to dive in! Use these tools as you would any other, feel free to experiment, and let the AI team know your thoughts and feedback at ai@cuanswers.com.

A special note for subsidiary related tools: As this release updated many of the subsidiary processing tools, we have provided the list of tools made obsolete and the tool that now performs those functions. We recommend reviewing employee security before the release so that your Security Officer can compare security assignments and assess who will need access to the new or updated tools. You can generate an employee tool security report using Tool #357 Employee Security Audit Reports.
