

Lending & Collections Our Favorite Dashboards and Reports

CU*BASE is the premiere ASAP (Ask See Act Profit) toolset that provides everything you need right at your fingertips. Use these dashboards to analyze and mine your data for opportunities, and then connect with members for new business.

"Use this dashboard to subdivide your credit bands into specific campaigns focused on actual products that members have elsewhere. Then speak directly to Group A that is shopping for payment versus Group B that is looking for the best rate available. Act on this opportunity to understand your audience and make an offer."

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

The Credit Report Mining dashboard shows all credit scores for a member. These scores come from the Credit Score History file and include all scores pulled from all channels. Use this dashboard to see if multiple credit reports have been pulled on a given individual by a date range, and to see how these scores compare as part of a trending analysis.

How to access this dashboard:

Access this dashboard by selecting Tool #318 Credit Report Data Mining.

"The number one reason to use the EFT dashboard is to identify unused ATM/debit and credit cards. Then either make an offer or reduce risk by closing out cards. Also use this dashboard to review short-term unused cards to evaluate if you are "losing the love" of a member. Follow this with a "How do I keep you?" proposition."

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

This dashboard allows you to review statistics on your ATM, debit, and credit card data. Data is available on the screen for cards used during the last month closed cards, hot cards, and total cards. From this screen you can view transaction analysis, analyze groups of members' relationship to your credit union, and view data on cards that have not been used in the previous thirty days.

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

This dashboard is a must for anyone who currently uses risk-based pricing. Use it to compare the performance of your risk-based pricing with your loan performance. See if your risk matches your reimbursement. Do you need to adjust your credit score ranges or adjust your variance (the amount you add to the base rate for any risk-score range)? The real power is on the screen shown above, where you can data mine across a specific piece of information, such as current balance.

How to access this dashboard:

Access this dashboard by selecting Tool #473 Loan Risk Score Analysis.

Where Your Members Borrow Dashboard

Why Lender*VP thinks this dashboard is an important tool to ASAP (Ask See Act Profit)

"With the push of a button, the dashboard ranks competitor financial institutions that are also doing business with your members (and their co-borrowers). Want a list of your top five mortgage competitors? This dashboard provides you with the data you need to understand your opportunity (total present balance) to get started. Then contact the members and make them an offer to move their mortgage over to a credit union product."

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

Every time a transaction is posted to your member accounts or a credit report is pulled, your members are telling you where they are doing business. Every time a person is a co-borrower on a loan, their credit report is pulled as well. This dashboard allows you to summarize what your members and their co-borrowers are telling you through credit reports stored on the CU*BASE system.

How to access this dashboard:

Access this dashboard by selecting Tool #976 Where Your Members Borrow.

"Start with measuring production in a given time window to view your new loans. From here with just the click of a button you can measure branch production, staff production, and production by specific loan category. It is just that easy. And don't forget to use the closed loans feature to identify loans that were closed in the time frame as well."

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

In addition to all of the data you see on the entry screen, you can drill down into the analysis tab which gives you ten screens of information about the accounts and the members who own them, including the members' products and services, balance amounts, eStatement enrollment, and more.

How to access this dashboard:

Access this dashboard via Tool #552 New/Closed/All Accounts Dashboard.

"This screen shows you a complete collections dashboard displaying your delinquency pipeline. View loans that are one day, one week or one month delinquent with additional columns showing loans that have been delinquent for a longer time, with breakdowns according to the NCUA time frame. This screen is a one-stop shop. No printing of reports or creation of special Queries are needed. Simply select a date range and the data is available for you."

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

Work with this screen to monitor how your portfolio is at certain times of the month to see if progress has been made to pay down your delinquent loan portfolio. The strength of this screen lies in the fact that you can not only view the delinquent figures, but that you can also filter the data by several buttons. Filter by category, for example, to monitor your credit card or real estate portfolio.

How to access this dashboard:

Access these reports via Tool #229 Collections Dashboard/Summary.

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

The ACH option gives the lender the opportunity to see what other financial institutions your members are paying. If the money is coming from your credit union, you are likely already their primary financial institution and have established trust with that induvial. You can use the tool and find a list of members that represent refinance opportunities. You can use the 'search for' option to look for name of particular entities or exclude organizations such as your credit union.

How to access this dashboard:

Access this report via Tool #979 Where Your Members Shop.

What you can analyze with this dashboard:

You've seen and hopefully used the activity tracking tool in the loan queue, but this allows you to really drill down into the data. When it comes to your booked loans, you can see how your approvals are distributed among your credit scores bands and the average number of days it takes to book a loan. This will give you the information needed to evaluate your processes.

How to access this dashboard:

Access this report via Tool #484 Look to Book Ratio Analysis.
